President & CEO's Message

Merit: Fred Cohen, Leon Lifschutz, Dave Rudzinsky, Lou Moyerman (General Chair), and Steve Graber (professional)

Need: Matthew Halpern, Walter Klores, Susan Morgan, Howard Solomon, Lou Moyerman (General Chair), and Steve Graber (professional)

After a year delay due to the pandemic, and nearly two years we'd like to forget but will always remember, we are in the final countdown to the 21st World Maccabiah Games. Following summer and fall tryouts, Maccabi USA's delegation is almost complete, with over 900 athletes appointed to date. Our previous record of over 1,100 in both 2013 and 2017 will be surpassed this July as we expect to send a delegation of 1,200+ strong.

As is always the case as we approach the Maccabiah, it has been "all hands on deck" for our professional team and lay leaders. General Chair Lou Moyerman, Vice-Chairs Tonja Magerman and Debbie Adams, Team Managers Leon Lifschutz and Matthew Halpern, and the Organizing Committee of over 100 have worked diligently to prepare for this enormous project.

New for this Maccabiah, we are excited to launch the Maccabi Media Program after a successful pilot at the 2019 European Maccabi Games. We will be selecting 14 aspiring sports media professionals who will be embedded within our delegation and will cover the Games like we've never covered them before. For anyone back in the US who can't make it to Israel to experience the Maccabiah firsthand, the Maccabi Media Program will bring the sights, sounds, and stories straight to you, via game streaming, athlete features, social media content, and more. For those friends, family, and fans who do make the trip next July, for the first time we will have three different options within our mission to meet your budgetary needs.

For our athletes, while Maccabi USA can't control the cost to attend the Maccabiah, we can control the ability to award scholarships. Both the need-based scholarship committee, chaired by Debbie, and merit-based scholarship committee, chaired by Tonja, have been hard at work and have already made significant awards to some of our athletes. Thank you to our other committee members as well for helping with these difficult and important decisions:

At a retreat last year, the Interim Executive Committee determined that the #1 philanthropic goal of the organization was to endow the need-based scholarship fund in perpetuity. While we awarded over $1M in 2017 and hope to do the same for these Games, we must dispel any sense that the Maccabiah is only for the rich, and to do that we must always make scholarship assistance available.

Determining the #1 priority was the easy part. Raising the funds to endow our need-based scholarship fund would be the hard part.

Then, like manna from heaven, our passionate alumnus and donor, Stuart Weitzman, offered to give $5M to this need-based scholarship fund with the proviso that Maccabi USA raise another $3M. Our leadership quickly donated $500K, unlocking the first $2M of this true matching gift and officially launching the Stuart Weitzman Scholarship Fund for athletes in financial need.

As we go public with this incredible show of generosity by Stuart, we are hopeful we'll raise the remaining $2M+ so as not to leave any matching funds on the table. To that end, we respectfully ask that every member of the Maccabi USA family and community open your hearts and wallets to join Stuart and help us succeed in realizing the most transformative gift in the organization's 73-year history.

Marshall Emlon Jeff Burke

Step Up to the Weitzman Challenge

Stuart Weitzman, three-time Maccabi USA Table Tennis alum and world-famous shoe designer, has challenged us to a match! Not at table tennis, but to endow scholarships for athletes in financial need. If we raise $3 million by December 2022, Stuart will match us with $5 million!

Maccabi USA has already raised $850,000 as of publication, and we challenge you to join us!

The Maccabiah is one of the largest gatherings of Diaspora Jewry in the world and a transformational opportunity to build Jewish identity, community, and connection to Israel. Stuart believes cost should never be a barrier for participation, and we know you feel the same! Please show him — and generations of Jewish athletes to come — that we are committed to making the Maccabiah accessible to all.

IF YOU BUILD IT, they will come...

Maccabi USA has been hard at work building the world's largest traveling athletic delegation for the 2022 Maccabiah. Our elite athletes compete at the high school, club, college, professional, and Olympic levels, come from all over the country, and represent many different Jewish backgrounds.

ISRAEL CONNECT

The Maccabiah is about much more than sports. It is a unique Jewish Journey, facilitated by trained educators, that will open our athletes' eyes to the beauty of Israel and its people.

In conjunction with our educational partners at The iCenter, Jewish National Fund USA Boruchin Center, and RootOne, Maccabi USA is excited about the new and improved Israel Connect program. Prior to the start of the Games, our athletes will be immersed in a six-day Jewish identity experience, along with Israeli peers, that will help build a stronger connection to one another and to Israel.

Israel Connect Includes:

- ✓ Phyllis Magerman B'Nai Mitzvah Ceremony at the Southern Excavations of the Temple Mount next to the Kotel
- ✓ Interaction with Holocaust Survivors
- ✓ Connection to Israel as an ancestral land, a holy land, a modern land, and home to a thriving, diverse, and sports-loving Jewish People
- ✓ Lev L'Lev (Heart to Heart) Day of Service
- ✓ More Israeli Peers joining us than ever before
- ✓ Shabbat Dinner, Celebrations, and much more!

Momentum – Connecting Moms to Israel

We are excited to announce a new partnership with Momentum, formerly the Jewish Women's Renaissance Project, to bring Maccabi Moms of U-18 and U-16 athletes on a special trip to Israel this summer. Momentum seeks to empower women to transform themselves, their families, their communities, and the world through Jewish values and connection with Israel and global Jewish sisterhood.

From July 4-12, Momentum will take 40 Maccabi Moms to Israel for an experience that will connect families and overlap with Israel Connect, culminating in the Maccabiah Opening Ceremony. Following the trip, all participants will have the opportunity to join one of our three Maccabi USA mission trips so you can watch your children compete.

- Perfect lead-in to our Mission trip so you can experience Israel in a way that is meaningful, crafted specifically for moms, and meant to build bonds between Jewish women
- This trip is meant to demonstrate the power of Judaism and sports to bring the family together
- Follow-up programming is designed to maintain and strengthen relationships between families after the Maccabiah concludes
- Only 40 spaces available
- Sample trip itineraries and more information about Momentum programming can be found at momentumunlimited.org
- Registration and itinerary to come — stay tuned!

MACCABI MEDIA PROGRAM

While Maccabi USA athletes compete for gold medals in Israel next summer, the American delegation is unveiling a new team that also expects to shine – although this group will be the one providing the spotlight. The inaugural Maccabi Media Program will debut at the 21st Maccabiah and feature 14 highly skilled students and aspiring sports media professionals. These young professionals will perform various broadcasting and video production roles and play a pivotal role in enhancing coverage of the Maccabiah back home. Chaired by Marc Zumoff, the recently retired voice of the Philadelphia 76ers, this program will offer first-rate mentorship to young reporters from top journalists in the field.

The Maccabi Media team is open to high school seniors, college students, and recent college graduates under age 25 who demonstrate strong video production skills and have chosen a career path in sports media. The recruitment phase will run through the end of 2021, with candidates applying from some of the country's top communications and journalism programs.

Please visit www.maccabiusa.com/maccabimedia/ to apply or contact us at maccabimedia@maccabiusa.com for more details

Letter from the Development Chair

Thanks to the incredible generosity of the Maccabi USA family, this has been a transformational year. We have already raised more money in 2021 than in any previous year, including the two largest gifts in the history of our organization: A $5M matching gift opportunity from the Weitzman Family Foundation and $1.65M from the RootOne initiative, both of which will help our athletes afford the cost of participation.

I was so impressed by how much the small professional team in Philadelphia was able to accomplish during this COVID pandemic. Their flexibility and thoughtfulness brought us new initiatives, like Maccabi USA @ Home and the forthcoming Maccabi Media Program, as well as new partnerships with organizations around the Jewish world, including the Jewish National Fund USA Boruchin Center, The iCenter, RootOne, and Momentum.

Much like they did with programming, the team doubled down on the fundraising side, writing more grants than ever before, creating new fundraising systems, implementing trainings for our chairs and coaches, reaching out to past, present, and future donors, and coordinating efforts with our endowment partners.

But most impressive of all was how the Maccabi USA family rallied so quickly behind the incredible Weitzman Family Foundation Challenge Match. In just six weeks, our leadership raised $500K to unlock the first $2M of the family's $5M match. Fundraising for our annual budget is one thing (and we are on track to reach our goals), but creating the newly endowed Stuart Weitzman Scholarship Fund for athletes in financial need is the opportunity of a lifetime. Your support will help us achieve both!

The speed, enthusiasm, and generosity of our donors shows the power of the Maccabi Movement and its impact on Jewish athletes, their families, the communities they live in, and the greater Jewish world. It is not an exaggeration to say that the people who have already given, and those of you who will give to this campaign, are truly changing lives and contributing to a more robust, diverse, and united global Jewish community.

Thank you for making this a game-changing year.

Wishing you a happy, healthy, and light-filled 2022,

Deb Lichtenfeld
